

CLAIM

1. (cancelled) A protective cover that fits snugly onto a motorcycle luggage rack, and is secured to said rack by way of an appropriate fastening means, which is so positioned so as to function reliably and conveniently.

2. (new) A protective cover for a motorcycle luggage rack with an integrated fastening means wherein said cover fits snugly when secured to said rack and is placeable in such a way that said cover functions neatly and conveniently as a dimensionally minimal barrier against damage to said rack, and wherein said cover comprises a rectangular sleeve made of durable fabric that is open at the first end and closed at the second end, a flap that is proximal to the first end, and a means for fastening said flap to said sleeve.
